

Does your Home have a Problem?

Moisture problems are detrimental to our health and to the durability and resale value of your homes, and too much moisture in a home can lead to mold, mildew, and other biological growth. This in turn can lead to a variety of health effects ranging from more common allergic reactions, to asthma attacks, and hypersensitivity pneumonitis, for example. In addition to health problems, high relative humidity or water that enters building cavities can lead to problems such as rot, structural damage, and premature paint failure.

Construction problems can include, managing water outside foundation walls, managing water inside the foundation walls and in the basement or crawl space floor and using construction techniques to control water, air movement, vapour diffusion, and condensation. On the Costa del Sol homes are usually built over dry ground resulting in most homes being built without moisture protection.

VIP Homes offers a specialised service where all our installations have a 10 year guaranteed in writing, and in some cases up to 30 years GUARANTEE, both on the material as well as the installation, solving your humidity problems forever and in a very easy and cost effective way.
